

Construction Law Bytes

The Credit Crunch and the UK Economic Outlook

Speaker

Graeme Chaplin, Agent, Bank of England, West Midlands & Oxfordshire Agency

One year on from Graeme's last presentation for Law Bytes, he will provide an up-to-date overview of the Bank's assessment of the current economic outlook, including the impact of credit availability.

Graeme is an economist who has worked in many areas of the Bank - including eight years in the Agency network. He has been based in the West Midlands for the past two years.

The role of the Bank's regional Agencies is to act as information gatherers for the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC). To this end, the Agents meet regularly with contacts from across the business community to assess the current state of the economic environment. This information plays an important role in the monthly interest rate decisions of the MPC.
